To Repeat "Womanless Wedding" on April 14th

The great success of the "Womanless Wedding" given at the Methodist Church recently, has created an overwhelming demand for its reappearance and this has been arranged for the night of Thursday, April 14, at 8 o'clock, in the Methodist Church, Parish Hall.

This is given under the auspices of Miss Strickler's Division of the Ladies' Aid and the Men's Club of the Church, and with the additional assistance of the Boy Scouts of the church.

This second performance will surpass the first and arrangements are being made to accommodate a very large attendance. The admission is the same—35 cents for adults, 20 cents for children.

Benefit Party for Scouts

A card party will be given for the Narberth Troop, No. 1, Boy Scouts of America, at 8 P. M., Saturday, April 10, at the Girl Scout Room of the Community Building. There will be prizes and refreshments. The tickets are 50 cents each and may be obtained from Mrs. G. O. Schroder, Narberth 2647.

To Speak in Borough

DR. W. W. COMFORT, president of Haverford College, who will talk on "Modern College Education" at a meeting in the Narberth Community Building next Thursday evening, sponsored by the education committee of the Woman's Community Club.

Boro Business House Observes 10th Birthday

Narberth Coal Company Sold First Ton of Coal on April 1, 1922

PIONEER JEDDO DEALER

The Narberth Coal Company, of which Ralph S. Dunne is the owner, celebrated last Friday the tenth anniversary of its establishment on the Main Line. It was April 1, 1922, that the first ton of coal was sold. Since that time sales have grown to such an extent that the company is one of the largest on the Main Line.

A large volume of orders are handled in a year's time, some running as high as 200-300 tons at a time, for some of the Main Line's largest homes. Contracts include all Atlantic and Pacific stores in northern West Philadelphia and the Main Line, the Philadelphia Country Club's building at West Fairmount Park and Villanova, and several colleges and schools.

Mr. Dunne was a pioneer dealer of Jeddo-Highland coal, "The Aristocrat of Anthracite," and was one of the first dealers to handle it exclusively. He acted as representative for all J-H dealers in handling national advertising, and it was in his office that all J-H Philadelphia newspaper advertising originated last year.

Mr. Dunne is president of the Bala-Cynwyd-Narberth Rotary Club and the Narberth Business Council, and was for years president of the Narberth Civic Association. Among other connections he is a member of the advisory committee of the Narberth Baseball Club, a director of the Narberth American League Building and Loan Association, and a member of the Poor Richard Club of Philadelphia.

Stites and Walzer Part Company Politically; Seen as Forerunner of Fred's Return to the Fold

For years Narberth has been known in political circles as a "Stites" town. And with good reason. For the former State Senator Fletcher W. Stites and his right hand man, Fred Walzer, between them have managed to see that the voters of the Borough generally cast their ballots according to the desires of Messrs. Stites and Walzer.

For twenty years Walzer has been a man Friday, doing the bidding of his chief and espousing the causes and candidates backed by Stites.

Last Fall Fred made a gallant bid for a high county office, that of sheriff—and lost—by a margin of some eight or nine thousand votes.

This, and other ill-fated political ventures of the past, have convinced Fred that he is riding the wrong horse and that the path to political fortune lies on the band wagon of the Johnson Organization.

To make a long story short, Fred Walzer and Fletcher Stites have definitely parted company. Not that there is any animosity between the two, for they are still warm friends personally, but as far as political hook-ups go, they are miles apart.

But the logical corollary to the dissolution of the Stites-Walzer combine, the return of Walzer to the organization fold, is not yet consummated. Apparently this is Fred's object as fellers extended towards the organi-

Mrs. J. Y. Huber Heads Republican Women

Succeeds Mrs. H. Tatnall Brown, Jr., at Annual Election on Tuesday

SPEAKS ON PRIMARIES

Mrs. John Y. Huber, Jr., of Haverford, was elected president of the Lower Merion-Narberth Council of Republican Women at its annual election held on Tuesday.

The balloting took place following a luncheon at St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Ardmore. Mrs. Huber succeeds Mrs. H. Tatnall Brown, Jr., who was chosen honorary president.

Other officers elected were: Mrs. Theodore E. Benade, of Cynwyd, first vice-president; Mrs. George E. Pettinos, of Merion, second vice-president; Mrs. W. Russell Green, of Narberth, third vice-president; Mrs. Carl Zipf, of Bryn Mawr, fourth vice-president; Mrs. Morris M. Green, of Ardmore, treasurer; Mrs. J. Folwell Scull, Sr., of Cynwyd, recording secretary, and Mrs. Herbert T. Greenwood, of Cynwyd, corresponding secretary.

A brief talk was given at the meeting by Miss Frances Dillon on behalf of the Main Line gardens for the unemployed. Miss Dillon, who has successfully managed gardens in other sections of the suburban area, told of the amount of vegetables raised for the needy and the employment of 40 to 50 men. Mrs. Morris Green, acting chairman of welfare, made a plea for funds to carry on this work in the Main Line sections.

Mrs. Huber, the chief speaker of the afternoon, stressed the importance of the Spring Primary election on April 26. She pointed out that this would be an important election with the selection of the State committeeman and committeewoman, U. S. Senator, delegates to the National Convention, and a U. S. Congressman from Montgomery County, Assemblyman to the State Legislature among the positions at stake.

Mrs. W. Russell Green was the hostess at the meeting.

Mother and Daughter Dinner Planned at Presbyterian Church

A mother and daughter dinner will be given on Friday, April 15, at 6.30 prompt, sponsored by the Woman's Missionary Society of the Narberth Presbyterian Church.

The guest speaker will be Miss Maria Halsey Stryker, National Secretary for the Junior Workers, Needlework Guild of America.

Games and music will have their part in the evening's entertainment. Mothers and daughters are cordially invited. Mothers without daughters may borrow one for the evening.

Signing and returning of cards promptly will be appreciated by the committee.

Plan Soup Sale

The Ladies' Aid of the Narberth Methodist Episcopal Church will hold a home made vegetable soup sale on April 13, from 12 noon until 2 P. M., in the Parish Hall of the church. The soup will be 20 cents a quart and the proceeds will go towards the organization.

FRED WALZER

zation camp would seem to indicate.

At present Fred is engaged in battling on behalf of candidates for committee posts in the Borough whom he feels the Organization should accept if the town approves of them.

It would not surprise his followers greatly should he come out flatfooted for the Organization before the Primaries. But in this, as in everything else in this world, time will tell.

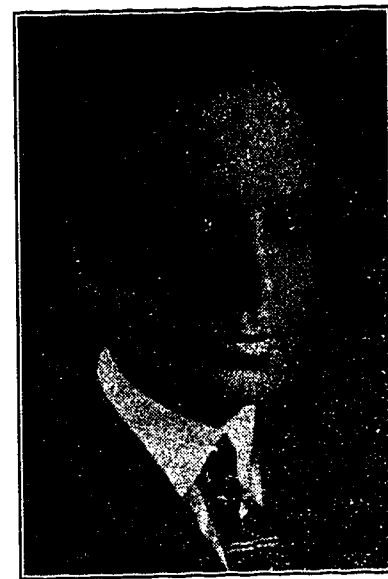

Philadelphia Fire Bureau Head Sees Noel, Narberth Chief, as Real "Fire Bug"

An interest in fire fighting and the men who are known as "smoke-eaters" took us recently on a visit to the great Mogul of Philadelphia fire-dom, Chief Ross B. Davis.

The Chief has his office on the second floor of the Bureau of Fire Building on Race street, just below Broad. It is a handsome brick structure, of Romanesque design, belying the idea that such a utilitarian building as a firehouse cannot also be beautiful.

Upon presenting our card, we were shortly ushered into the Chief's office in the corner of the building on the street front. Framed photographs of firemen in action, a battered brass trumpet, and other insignia of the fire-fighting profession served notice that we were in the presence of a dyed-in-the-wool "smoke-eater."

"You have a real fire bug out there in Narberth," said Chief Davis. "I mean your fire chief, Charlie Noel. Fire fighting is just like a hobby to him and you would have to look a long time to find a man who devotes the time and attention to it that Charlie does. I know that it is largely through his efforts that the Narberth Fire Company has been raised to its present efficient standards."

CHARLES V. NOEL

Junior Club Having Very Active Month

Big Dance Planned for April 23 at Community Building

NEXT MEETING THE 14TH

The Junior Community Club is keeping up its whirl of activities, coming closer together as the season progresses.

Last Saturday evening they joined the Seniors in entertaining the men of the Club-women's household, at a large card party held in the Club Room of the Community Building.

This Thursday evening, April 7, another subscription card party is being held for the Junior girls and their guests, with the usual admission price of 50 cents. This will be at the home of Miss Jule Fittipoldi, on Merion avenue.

On Thursday evening, April 14, the regular club meeting will be held at the Club Room. The speaker will be Mrs. Patterson, of Cynwyd, who will talk on "Worthwhile Books."

The most important event of the month is the dance which will be held in the Legion wing of the Community Building on April 23. Good music, light refreshments, attractive surroundings, and congenial company combine to offer a series of pleasurable moments which will provide an unusually desirable evening for you and a partner.

See any Junior for reservations—soon.

Mulieres to Complete Plans Monday for Fireman's Supper

The Mulieres of the Narberth Fire Company will hold their regular monthly meeting on Monday at 2 o'clock in Elm Hall. Following the meeting there will be a card party for the members and their guests. The guest fee is 25 cents.

Plans will also be completed for the Fireman's Supper, which will be held on April 21 for the officers and members of the organization and a few friends, in Elm Hall, at 6.30 P. M. This is not a subscription dinner. Mrs. Arthur Goldsmith will lead the singing. Mrs. Charles Vigners, Jr., will be the pianist, and Mr. John Dorezo will play the accordion. The dinner will be cooked and served by the Board of Directors and the members of the organization.

The card party given by the Mulieres on Wednesday afternoon was a very successful and enjoyable affair.

Amos and Andy Luncheon at M. E. Church Tuesday

An Amos and Andy Luncheon will be served in Lightnin' and Brother Crawford's lunch room, located for one day in Parish Hall of the Narberth M. E. Church, Tuesday, April 12. Um, Um, ain't that sumpin'. You must try and get there prezzactly at 12.30 or you won't get nothin' to eat. Reservations must be made before the day what the lunch am served, so be sure to telephone in advance to the agent of the Fresh Air TaxiCab Co., Narberth 4036-W, and ask for Mrs. White, instead of Andrew H. Brown. Tickets, fifty cents for each one. Mrs. White will handle the money instead of Kingfish. Check and double check.

Committee Preparing Report on Merger

Group to Bring Matter Before Official Bodies Next Week

PERSONNEL IS NAMED

A complete report on the proposal to merge the Borough of Narberth with Lower Merion Township is being prepared by the committee appointed to draft a petition. It is expected that the report will be completed next week.

The committee working on the matter is the same in personnel as that which investigated the feasibility of sending the Eighth Grade at the Narberth School back to Lower Merion Junior High.

It includes the following residents of the Borough: A. W. Burns, chairman; H. L. Woehling, A. L. Rankin, A. G. Sparks, A. E. Wohler, Louis A. Young and D. W. Wright.

The matter will be formally presented to the Narberth Borough Council at its meeting on Monday night, to the Narberth School Board on Tuesday night, and to the Lower Merion Board of Commissioners on Wednesday night.

Informal conferences have already been held with members of these bodies in gathering facts. The arguments both for and against consolidation with Lower Merion Township and the anticipated saving to taxpayers such action would involve, will be thoroughly covered in the report of the committee.

Following presentation of the report, the procedure will be drafting of the petition for submission to the Court, and the general circulation of this petition among residents of the Borough to obtain the necessary signatures of two-thirds of the taxable inhabitants.

Mrs. Bowes to be Speaker at Club's Meeting Tuesday

The regular meeting of the Women's Community Club of Narberth will be held on Tuesday afternoon at 2.30 P. M. in the Community Building.

The program is in charge of the Civic and Welfare Committees, Mrs. C. Arley Farmer, chairman, and Mrs. Joseph R. Aiken, chairman. The speaker will be Mrs. Anna De Planter Bowes, of the Philadelphia Child Health Centre. Mrs. Burns Best will be the hostess.

The Board of Directors held a meeting at the home of the president, Mrs. Joseph A. Hongler, of Merion avenue, on Tuesday morning.

Instruction in bridge is given each Thursday afternoon for the club members at 2 o'clock. Mrs. E. C. Town is in charge.

Among the new members of the club are Mrs. Burns Best, Wayne A. Schaeffer and Mrs. P. Whistler.

Dr. Comfort to Speak in Boro Next Thursday

Dr. William Wistar Comfort, president of Haverford College, will be the speaker at a meeting next Thursday night in the Legion room of the Narberth Community Building. Dr. Comfort's talk will be on the subject of "modern college education." The meeting is sponsored by the Education Committee of the Woman's Community Club of Narberth. Everyone interested is cordially invited to attend.

Narberth Residents Take Part in State Conference

Frank A. Schrepfer, past commander of the Harold D. Speakman Post, American Legion, of Narberth, was a speaker on Tuesday at the sixteenth annual State Conference of the Pennsylvania Branch of the Women's International League, held in Altoona. Mr. Schrepfer's topic was "A Soldier Speaks of War."

Miss Ellen Starr Brinton, of Narberth, field secretary of the Women's International League, was another speaker at the afternoon session on Tuesday.

Tells of China

Captain Charles D. Baylis, U. S. M. C., who recently returned from Shanghai, China, and who has been visiting his sister, Mrs. H. R. Rinehart, of S. Narberth avenue, talked to the children of the Narberth Baptist Church on Sunday morning on his experiences in China. Captain Baylis has spent 27 years in traveling around the world and held the position of Athletic Coach and Sports Manager in every port flying the American flag.

School Board Tuesday

The April meeting of the Narberth School Board, scheduled for next Friday, has been moved up to Tuesday evening. It is expected that the Board's decision regarding the Eighth Grade will be made at this time. The meeting will be held at the School at 8 P. M.

Attention, Letter Writers

Effective with this week's issue, all letters to the editor bearing on politics or the proposal that Narberth be merged with Lower Merion Township must carry the signature of the writer in order to be printed.

This rule has been adopted after careful consideration—not with any idea of muzzling free expression of opinion, but of insuring responsibility for such expressions. It is felt that the use of a pseudonym may easily become a mask for the expression of an opinion which the writer may not care to stand back of.

The columns of Our Town are open at all times to all shades of opinion. The paper may or may not approve of sentiments expressed, but this will have no effect in determining whether or not such expressions shall be published.

Again we reiterate this new editorial rule: All letters on politics or the merger proposal intended for publication in Our Town must be signed with the name of the writer.

Art and the Business Man

Within the past 10 years, business and professional men in many large cities, including Philadelphia, have organized art clubs in their various communities. What do they know about art, and what will it amount to, you ask? George Lear, president of the Business Men's Art Club of Philadelphia, has this to say:

"On March 30, 1925, this club was organized in the old Art Alliance Building and a month later met for its first evening lesson at the School of Industrial Art. In April, 1926, the club moved to its present quarters, at 1626 Arch street, where the members meet after trying days of depressed business, or even in the humdrum of prosperity, to get a different slant on life. They may be tired, worried about their jobs, and need just this relaxation to clear their minds of some weighty problem. They set up their drawing boards or canvases and in a short time are transported to a different realm; the world of business evaporates and is forgotten. The personnel of the club includes lawyers, brokers, clerks, a physician, a dentist, architects, draughtsmen, a tailor, an optician, engineers, a printer and a salesman."

What a cross-section to be interested in a hobby, constructive in principle, refreshing in its application and not very expensive! It keeps you more interested in life, more observant of the beauty around you, and fills you with the desire to "brush up."

Some of these clubs foster reciprocal exhibits at another club's quarters. That very thing is happening right now. Many of the members of the Philadelphia club live along the Main Line and are displaying their work at 25 Bala avenue, Bala-Cynwyd, where the Main Line Business Men's Sketch Club meets every Wednesday evening. The exhibition is open to everyone, no charge or obligation, and what these men have accomplished in their so-called leisure hours is surely an incentive to the many men in business or professions along the Main Line to go and do likewise.

William Tefft Schwarz, A. F. W. Vick, John A. Miller and Alvin E. Shull are the officials of the Main Line organization and will gladly discuss details of local activities with those interested.

Shreds and Patches

River Bend

One evening The Vagrant met a man from Antioch seated at a great bend in the river. The water swirled by swiftly and silently, carrying bits of wood and bark and leaves. The man from Antioch said, "See! Those floating objects have no direction of their own, but follow the current, except that sail-boat of a leaf which a gust of wind is driving crosswise." Then in the twilight he pointed out near the farther shore what he said looked like an arrowhead moving on the water surface. It did not follow the course of the floating bark and leaves. It was influenced by the current and drifted somewhat downstream, yet it had its own direction. As it approached we could see at the point two bright eyes and a sharp nose, the sides of the moving arrowhead being the spreading ripples left behind by the furry creature as it swam. "That," said the man from Antioch, "is typical of life. It drifts somewhat with the current of circumstance, yet has direction of its own, a direction determined by its own nature."

Internal Power

Darkness soon blotted out the great river, but still the man from Antioch talked on, speaking of the university of Utrecht, which he had recently visited, and of education as a preparation for life and of many other things, but it was his comparison of the swimming muskrat to life that remained in The Vagrant's mind. Which is the current of life and which is the direction that we individually give to our own voyages on it? Custom and instinct and economic need supply the current, no doubt. What remains then from which to derive the resources of energy needed to propel a life across so strong a current? Instinct and economic need are acquired at birth and at the same moment custom seizes us all as well and endeavors to mould our mental and spiritual needs in conformity with ideas which evolved long before we came on the scene. Yet there are some persons who actually do move deliberately across or against the current. Their courses indicate that purpose and plan influence the direction of their lives and that internal sources of power move them on.

Periwinkles

Although The Vagrant brought home with him from the river bend the problem of those sources of personal power, he has not found the answer, partly because La Vagante has found that spring has arrived in the garden. Pondering sits the returned Vagrant, pipe and fireplace both aglow. In rushes La Vagante through the garden door, equally aglow and in fine disregard of the profound meditations then in progress. Gently she says, balancing on the step, "Did you know that the buds on the cherry trees have broken?" A monosyllabic negative escapes from The Vagrant who otherwise moves not nor seems to be aware of her presence. She returns to the garden. Quiet descends. Meditations are resumed. Again she poises on the step and again she calls, "Come and see! The periwinkles are in blossom!" The Vagrant turns his head. "Periwinkles," says he, "which are the periwinkles?" Undismayed, she tucks back a wisp of wind-blown hair which disturbs her more at the moment than The Vagrant's indifference, and insistently says, "Come and see; the periwinkles are the blue flowers on what you call the myrtle. And both the cardinals are out here too! Come and see!" So The Vagrant went to see and enjoyed the sight and forgot the problem of hidden personal powers, doubtless to his own relief and that of his present readers.

No Reformer

Some weeks ago The Vagrant without malicious intent spoke of a certain man as a "reformer," and was amazed to receive immediately thereafter a written protest which was withheld from publication at that man's request. That is why he is nameless here now. The time was when to be called a reformer was a term of commendation and a recognition that he so named stood for the better things. Now it is quite generally resented. The Eighteenth Amendment and the attendant Volstead Act have brought all that about, for good or for ill. National prohibition was proclaimed a reform. It is still defended as such. The public ills which increasingly flow from it are condoned in comparison to the reform which has been brought about. If that is reform, then no discerning person any more wishes to be termed a reformer. Yet the man who objected wrote and talked like an old-time crusading reformer last fall when he sought with his tongue in his cheek to picture the County political machine as a thing of evil which was menacing the free-born and hard-won liberties of the citizens of Narberth. But actually he is no reformer and his resentment of that term was quite natural and proper.

THE VAGRANT.

The Grand Old Party

Let us all reason together again as loyal Republicans, united in aims and beliefs and with a firm determination in this Presidential year, when the going looks hard, not to be distracted from our main allegiance by petty strivings and personalities. Again let us raise the question of what do the Republicans of Narberth accomplish for themselves in personal satisfaction or for the advancement of the community or the party at large by being led off the reservation repeatedly by the so-called independents. We raised that question here two weeks ago and no one has answered it directly.

It has been implied that our local liberties are menaced by Mr. Johnson, of Norristown, but so far as a diligent scrutiny can reveal those liberties seem to be in a pretty healthy condition except that there appear to be some people who would sell them out to the Township if they could save a dollar a year in their taxes. Mr. Johnson certainly had nothing to do with instigating that movement.

There always has been in Narberth a small group of loyal Republicans who have stuck by the County Organization through thick and thin. But it is true that the independents, never having been sobered and exposed by the responsibilities which a victory would impose, have usually romped away with a majority of the Borough's Republican votes whenever they were so disposed, which has been pretty often. Is it strange then that after 20 years of such antics and such futility the inhabitants of Narberth should be regarded as a pretty hopeless lot by party leaders outside of the Borough?

The strange thing is that any friends of the Organization have survived that long trek through the wilderness of willful wanderings. But survive they have and, stranger still, their renewed activities are revealing that there are hundreds of other citizens who think as they do. Apparently all that was needed was to ask the question: "What has all this independence got for us anyway?"

The sentiment in favor of regularity and of good sense is so strong that it seemed to the loyal Republican leaders here that a friendly conference with the independents would be sufficient to patch up all differences and bring everyone back into the fold this spring before the coming primary campaign could add fresh bitterness to the memories of the defeat which the independents received last fall. So Henry Smith, president of the Republican Club, went to see J. J. Cabrey, friend and adviser of Fred Walzer, to learn whether the contest over committee places in the Borough could be compromised and avoided. The proposal was that the loyal Republicans would support three committeemen chosen by Messrs. Cabrey and Walzer if in return they would support three committeemen chosen by the regulars. Nothing came of that meeting and the contest for committee places is now under way.

Ordinarily there is no interest in those committee places and people have to be solicited to let their names go into nomination for them. Why the present change of attitude? Mr. Walzer purports to believe and has convinced his friends that when he was recently an applicant for appointment to be a county detective the local committeemen vetoed it and that therefore those committeemen disregarded the expressed wishes of the Republican voters of Narberth, betrayed their fellow townsman and should be removed from office. Mr. Walzer knows better than that. He knows that there wasn't a committeeman or woman in Narberth who, after the independent victory here last fall, had one ounce of practical influence with Norristown and that as a matter of fact, none of them was consulted regarding the position of county detective.

There is no need of blaming any one but Mr. Walzer himself for his failure to secure the appointment which he desired. It passes belief that anyone could have reasonably expected that a leader as astute and successful and experienced as Mr. Johnson would have to consult anyone before turning down Mr. Walzer's application. Of course, Mr. Johnson turned him down. And of course he will continue to turn him down, regardless of whoever may be elected to the committee places in Narberth, until he has demonstrated over a reasonable period of time that he is a loyal and dependable party man. That attitude may seem unfair toward a man of Mr. Walzer's attainments and popularity, but it is the only way by which party solidarity and success can be achieved.

Those people of Narberth, and there are many, who would like to solve the 20-year-old problem of a public job for Fred Walzer, will best accomplish the object which they have in view by refusing to squander their votes for him as an independent or for his misguided independent candidates for committee places. It is good intentions thrown away unless it is a pleasure to be able to tell every year that they have voted for him, and are sincerely sorry that, although he carried his own town handsomely, he was overwhelmingly defeated by votes outside.

Mr. Walzer's personal and self-sacrificing loyalty to the leaders whom he has faithfully followed all these years is one of the commendable aspects of our local political scene, but it is evident that he must have recognized the futility of it, in this present time of depression, if he actually did take his hat in his hand and apply to Mr. Johnson for the place as county detective. If he felt no sense of personal humiliation in that abject attitude, his leaders must have experienced helpless qualms of regret at his public admission of their personal inability to help their needy henchman.

The door of the citadel of party regularity and preference is always open for the return of the repentant. There are few Republicans alive today who have not strayed from the reservation at one time or another, lured by the call of the Bull Moose in 1912 or by Wilson's personal magnetism in later years. Those wounds are long since healed, those campaigns with the enemy have been forgiven and forgotten. In the White House today is a man who honestly didn't know whether he was a Republican or a Democrat in 1920. How much less than these great figures is Fred Walzer! How much smaller the front on which he has attacked the forces of loyalty! His merits are known. His daily zeal in political affairs. His deeds of personal valor. His unswerving loyalty to his leaders. All that remains is for him to come back, join the men in the ranks and then patiently await the rewards that will be apportioned in accordance with whatever merits he may reveal in the role of a loyal party man. And, incidentally, but of greater importance, the Narberth Republicans can be at peace.

The present writer wishes that he had the power and authority to say that this is the last time that such an opportunity to return will be offered to Mr. Walzer, but that cannot be said. The door is and must always be open. That is the way of the old party, which is appropriately called "Grand" by friend and foe alike.

Suggests Republican Club

To the Editor of "Our Town":

Who can tell? Perhaps, after all the talk of political strife among Narberth Republicans, we may soon be a part of Lower Merion Township politically.

What is it all about anyway? If some of the Republicans are not satisfied with what they may, or may not, get for their own personal benefit they might become Democrats or Socialists—or Prohibitionists. There are several parties to pick from.

Except for an unexpected number of Democratic votes in 1928, Narberth has been pretty much a Republican voting community—as has Lower Merion Township, the County of Montgomery and the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

There must be a "nigger in the wood pile" or some reason for a lot of talk and a lot of work to divide Narberth Republicans into political enemy groups.

"United we stand—divided we fall." Or, if you prefer—"In union there is strength." A Republican Club might be what is needed, not the kind that they have in the big cities, but an organization that will be able to keep our citizens posted as to what is doing politically. Such an organization would encourage our voters to come out and vote—so that Narberth citizens, as Narberth voters, would be a power. A thousand votes in the right column means a lot. Candidates nominated at the spring primary election will appear on the ballot in November. Let us choose wisely and well.

There are always some minds who are "agin' the Government"—and usually there is a reason; generally the reason is veiled for a cause.

Our local government and local representation has always been of the highest type of good citizenship.

Why all the fuss? Who wants what?

ROBERT J. EDGAR.

Re Committee Contests

To the Editor of "Our Town":

As I understand the case, the contest for the Committee places has come about chiefly because the present incumbents are charged with neglecting the interests of Borough Republicans to the instructions imposed on them by the county chieftains.

Those who are allied with the Organization should espouse the cause of the Organization at general elections or give way to others who will. That is not so in the case of the primaries. If the game is played right, if it follows the lines laid down for it when party regulations were first made, there should be a fair field and no preference when the candidates present themselves for popular favor. Deny that and you completely destroy the last vestige of democratic opportunity and selection. Let the best man win, and when he does let the constituted Organization support him to the limit, even when the victor happens to be a Pinchot or one of his ilk.

No political organization, unless it has descended into being a mere brigade of perpetual office-holders, has the right, under the rules, to advance one man against another at the primary elections. The fact that many of them almost invariably do (in the eastern section of America at least) proves nothing except the great need of the kind of militant protest which Narberth is now in a mood to proclaim.

Most of the present Narberth committee members are on record for a long time as believing the county chairman is their authorized mentor on any and all occasions. What they did last Fall is indefensible from every reasonable standpoint and no explanation of intelligence can be made for their conduct, if there is any semblance of an agreement as to what a committee member is supposed to be.

The vote this month shall not be a division as to whether the Borough is Johnson or anti-Johnson. It shall be a question as to whether or not the committee members shall represent the Republicans of Narberth, speak their piece for them on all proper occasions, and to endeavor to secure a degree of influence for the community in county affairs which shall correspond with the sterling worth of the people who live here.

The claim is made that most of the present members have served the town badly, that they are negligible factors at headquarters and that they ought to be replaced by competent men and women who shall realize the kind and nature of the accountability delegated to them and be faithful to their trust accordingly.

Emergency Group is Aiding Employment

1984 Placements Made During 15 Months of Committee's Operation

It is often difficult to realize the work that is being done in front of our very eyes. An example of this is the work of the Main Line Emergency Committee in the placing of people in employment of various types and thereby greatly alleviating the distress of the present situation.

This Committee, headed by E. W. Ehmman and made up of prominent men and women in the Main Line like William W. Bodine, A. M. Collins, George F. Curwen, Rev. Franklin Duncome, Philip A. Hart, C. Penno Hoffman, Mrs. Harold W. How, Mrs. G. Brinton Lucas, Benjamin J. Ludlow and Captain Samuel Siegle, has been doing very fine and notable work.

The office of the committee, on 22 Ardmore avenue, Ardmore, has been in existence since December 19, 1930, and in its 15 months of operation has handled 2466 applications for work, and made 1984 placements. These range from permanent jobs, situations, numbering 202, to permanent part time, that is a certain number of days a week.

Mr. Ehmman went on to show the extent of the activities. He says: "A total of 159,000 hours of work has been secured for this group and figuring at the lowest average hourly rate the amount earned would be at least $50,000. This has certainly been a splendid showing, especially in view of the small cost of supporting the office around which the actual placing of these applicants centered. The total expense only amounts to $4752.00 over this 15 months' period."

"A very interesting comparison shows that for every dollar used, more than $10 in work for the applicants resulted."

"This bears out the policy of 'Work And Not A Dole,' and from an investment standpoint this is a most excellent return," Mr. Ehmman said, as he reiterated the policy of the Committee.

"Why not go further into this plan of creating work," he said, "and then the cumulative effect of this activity can be greatly widened and better conditions would be felt as it is work and earning power that are back of all basis for recovery."

"Fix up that home of yours, add to your garden, plant trees, flowers, paint, repaper your rooms if there is need and there surely is in many cases," Mr. Ehmman asserted, "and this will not only help this worthy cause, but give you immense satisfaction of a better place in which to live—and, best of all, a better community."

A NIGHT Alarm

"WAKE UP—the baby's sick!" With a start, Bill Hawley broke loose from sleep. The fear in his wife's voice and the child's wail spurred his hasty dressing.

Together they hung over the cot. "I'll run next door and telephone Dr. Pelham," Bill declared. Without hat or coat he darted away.

Anxiously he rang his neighbor's door-bell. No one stirred in the darkened house. Again he pushed the bell fiercely. Still no one answered.

In desperation, Bill started for the doctor's home. "Never again," he muttered as he hurried down the deserted street. "Never again! From now on there'll be a telephone in the house, or I'll know the reason why!"

As an everyday convenience the TELEPHONE is worth many times its low cost. In emergencies it is priceless.

All-French Film Will be Egyptian's Main Line Innovation April 27-28

"Sous les Toits de Paris," an all-French talking cinema, will be presented for the first time in any American Community Theatre at the Egyptian, Bala-Cynwyd, afternoons and evenings of Wednesday and Thursday, April 27 and 28.

The atmosphere of Paris' tenement district is caught cleverly by Rene Clair in a film that is hailed by critics as an advance in talkie technique, reducing dialogue to a minimum (40 per cent.), and retaining the pantomime formula with which the most universally successful silent films were produced. The picture is 100 per cent. understandable even to those who do not know a word of French.

Albert Prejan, leading character in the comedy-drama, is very like Chevalier, and gifted with a charming personality. Shown only in a few places in America, the film has already been highly commended by the New York Times, Philadelphia Public Ledger, Los Angeles Times, the New Yorker and Time Magazine. Its favorable reception by the Main Line public is expected to lead to performances of other foreign masterpieces here.

One Kind of Woman

stage and screen star of "Lysistrata," "24 Hours," etc., who will star in "Two Kinds of Women" at the Egyptian next Wednesday and Thursday.

Born in Georgia, she was educated in private schools, Goddard Seminary, Vermont, and Syracuse University. Enrolled in a New York professional dancing school, she volunteered for a Near East relief benefit show and later discovered that the man who applied dirt streaks to her face to make her look poverty-stricken was Herbert Hoover. She first won Broadway fame in "Little Jesse James" and "An American Tragedy."

At the Egyptian

Very funny is "The Passionate Plumber," at the Egyptian this weekend, in which Jimmy ("Schnozzle") Durante steals laurels from Buster Keaton and Polly Moran.

Next Monday and Tuesday the Cynwyd feature will be "Forbidden," starring Adolphe Menjou, Barbara Stanwyck and Ralph Bellamy.

Following which will be "Two Kinds of Women," based on "This Is New York," a stage play by Robert E. Sherwood, one of America's foremost dramatists, which was popular in Philadelphia. Its excellent cinema cast includes Miriam Hopkins, Philip Holmes, Wynne Gibson, Stuart Erwin and Irving Pichel.

The end of next week will see Mario Dressler's latest picture, "Emma," winning the same sort of capacity attendance it is drawing everywhere. True to life and very human.

Thirty-three Lower Merion properties were among the 127 offered for sale by Sheriff Haseltine Lever at Norristown last week.

"Plays and Players" is First of Library Reading Lists

"Plays and Players" is the first in a series of twelve book lists which have been prepared by the Library for the benefit of those patrons who may desire to systematize their reading. It includes a number of the modern plays with several biographies of well known actors. The list is only suggestive and other volumes on the same subject may be found at the Library.

1.—"Mourning Becomes Electra," by Eugene O'Neill. Greek tragedy paralleled in modern New England. Heralded as O'Neill's masterpiece.

2.—"The Barretts of Wimpole Street," by Rudolf Besier. Efforts of Elizabeth Barrett to escape from the psychological repression of a neurotic parent.

3.—"Street Scene," by Elmer Rice. Tenement thriller of baffled ambition.

4.—"Wings Over Europe," by Robert Nichols. Startling results of discovery of the control of the atom.

5.—"Bird in Hand," by John Drinkwater. British comedy at an English Inn.

6.—"The Play's the Thing," by Ferenc Molnar. Also Lilium. These will be found in a collection of Molnar's Plays.

7.—"Alison's House," by Susan Glaspell. Suggested by the life of the poet, Emily Dickinson.

8.—"Best Plays of 1929-1930; and 1930-1931." By Burns Mantle. Ten most representative plays of the season either in full or in summary.

10.—"The Apple Cart," by George Bernard Shaw. Gay satire on politics, government, tradition and present customs.

11.—"Green Pastures," by Marc Connelly. Stories of the Old Testament as interpreted by the Negro mind.

12.—"Modern American and British Plays," compiled by Marion Tucker. Anthology of recent examples of types of plays in which British and Americans excel.

13.—"Testament of a Critic," by George Jean Nathan. Independent criticism of literature and drama.

14.—"Up the Years From Bloomsbury," by George Arliss. Life of the popular star of "Disraeli."

15.—"Footlights and Spotlights," by Otis Skinner. Biography of that Philadelphia favorite.

16.—"The Road to the Temple," by Susan Glaspell. Story of George Cram Cook, who was the sponsor of the Little Theatre movement, which gave Eugene O'Neill its opportunity.

17.—"American Playwrights of Today," by Burns Mantle. Lives and work of the eight dramatists who have won the Pulitzer prize.

Narberth Girl Selected for Admission to Swarthmore

Miss Mary Jean Poorman, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. John H. Poorman, Stepney Place, Narberth, a senior at Lower Merion High School, has been selected from a large number of applicants for admission to Swarthmore College. Of the ninety who gained admission, a large proportion was reserved for the daughters of former graduates and for Friends.

Miss Poorman has a most exceptional scholastic and activity record at Lower Merion. When she graduated from Junior High she was awarded the Scholarship Cup as the outstanding student with the highest average. In her Sophomore year she was elected to the Hi-Y, of which she is now the president. As a Junior she was elected to the National Honor Society.

She has also served for two years as secretary of her class and as an editor of the school paper, "The Merionite." She is a member of the Student Council and has been awarded her varsity letters as captain of the basketball team. She plans to take a pre-medical course at Swarthmore.

We want to get out the best paper possible. Your advice would be appreciated.

"Goose Hangs High" Merits Revival, Says Critic—Due Here April 15-16

The Woman's Club of Bala-Cynwyd will present on April 15 and 16 at 8.30 a three-act play, "The Goose Hangs High," by Lewis Beach.

Edward H. Miller, who for many years produced the University of Chicago "Blackfriars" shows, is directing the play, which was likewise cast by Mr. Miller. Eleanor Deakins and Lloyd Unger are playing the leads, and the cast also includes Eleanor McChesney Markee, Mrs. J. E. D. Graves, Mrs. E. B. DeVilbiss and Arlene R. Friel. Besides Mr. Unger the gentlemen in the cast are Charles Hawley, Charles E. Gibbon, William Markee, Willard Edmunds, R. F. Curtis and E. Harmon Friel.

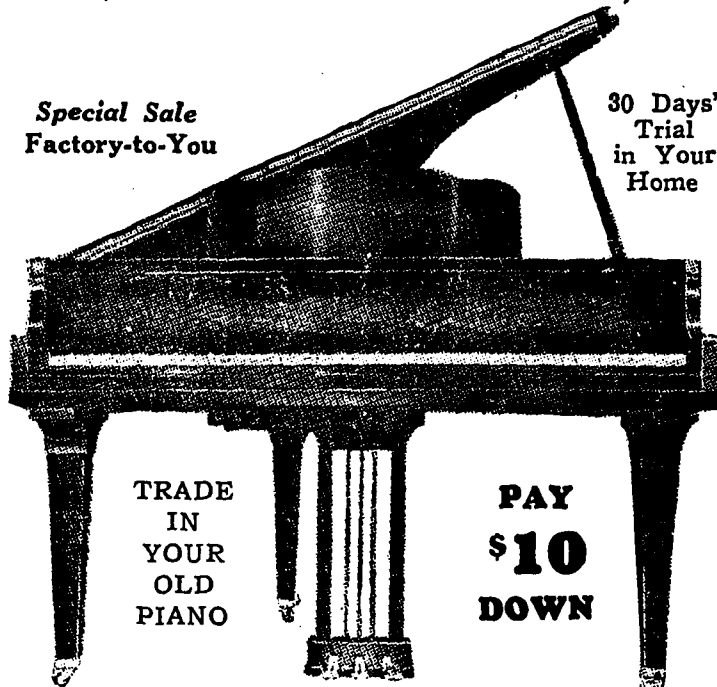

"The Goose Hangs High" was a New York success in the dramatic season of 1925-26. Outstanding members of the original cast were Norman Trevor and Mrs. Whiffen, parts taken in the present production by Lloyd Unger and Mrs. Graves. The story is one of conflict between three generations of the Ingalls family and the surprising reaction of the much-abused "younger generation" when calamity visits the household.

Senior Girl Scout Troop Does Some Star Gazing

The stars and climate were studied by the Main Line Senior Girl Scout Troop at the Haverford College Observatory last Friday evening.

According to Miss Helen Melvin, Senior Troop Captain, the entire group of fifteen evinced a desire to know more about the heavens. They showed a keen interest by asking numerous questions of the professor, who acted as their guide.

Scouts from Ardmore, Bryn Mawr and Wayne compose the Senior Troop, which meets once a month in the Girl Scout Room of the Bryn Mawr Presbyterian Church, under the direction of the Main Line Field Captain.

The majority of the scouts are working on first class requirements, with many extras on the side.

Recently the troop heard a lecture on mammals at the invitation of a Boy Scout Troop, which meets in the same building.

Local Movies

"Arrowsmith" Will play Four Days at Narberth

Will Rogers' latest comedy, "Business and Pleasure," is at the Narberth Theatre this Friday and Saturday, with a Mickey Mouse comedy and a special Saturday matinee treat. "Babes in the Woods," adapted from "Hansel and Gretel" with organ accompaniment from that popular opera, will be an added feature at the matinee. It is recommended for all children and their parents as well.

So highly is "Arrowsmith" rated by critics and by capacity audiences wherever it plays, that the Narberth Theatre management has made an exception to its rule, and booked the classic for the entire first four days of next week. Rated one of the very best pictures of 1932 and of all time, it is a version of Sinclair Lewis' great novel, and has been praised as full of humanity and epic greatness. Helen Hayes and Richard Bennett, stage stars of the first magnitude, and Ronald Colman in a remarkable performance. Humor, pathos, scenic and musical beauty, stirring emotional crises and unusually vivid character delineation make "Arrowsmith" a cinema no one should miss.

Husbands Join Wives in Party at Community Building

Members of the Women's Community Club gave a party for their husbands last Saturday evening in the Girl Scout Wing of the Community Building.

A goodly company of seventy or more husbands and wives made a jolly and sociable group, and each man was tagged with a gay-colored rosette with his name on it. Thus it was easy to tell that Mr. What's-his-name was the husband of Mrs. What's-her-name. It was an interesting diversion in odd moments to check up on the relationships.

Auction and contract bridge were the entertainment of the first half of the evening, and a colation of delicious sandwiches, cake, coffee and mints, the second half.

The tables were drawn together after cards and covered with spring-time covers.

The directors were pleased to have about an equal number of new and old-time members present and a very representative group of the Junior section of the club. Everyone had such an enjoyable evening that the board plans to have a similar party soon.

"Pinwheel" Features Program at Hedgerow Next Week

"Pinwheel," by Francis Faragoh, will open the weekly program at the Hedgerow Theatre in Rose Valley on Thursday night. This impressionistic drama concerns itself with the submergence of personality in those who are caught in the whirlpool of a great city. Cole McLaughlin plays "The Jane," Joseph Taulane "The Guy," and Carl Reukauff "The Bookkeeper." On Friday night St. John Ervine's social drama of strife and ambition in the family of a shipbuilder, "The Ship," will be given with Al McGranary, Alfred Rowe and Catherine Rieser in the leading roles.

Another performance of the Lynn Riggs comedy, "Roadside," will be given on Saturday night of next week, this time with the cut section restored, making it the first showing of the play as it was originally written. Cole McLaughlin, Carl Reukauff and Jasper Deeter will be seen as the chief characters in this richly poetic and infectiously boisterous eulogy of the open road. A new play by Lynn Riggs has just been received by the Hedgerow company and will go into rehearsal for an opening some time early in the new season.

Tonight's show is "A Lantern to See By," by Riggs, and tomorrow night's "Pinwheel," by Faragoh.

Penshurst Farm Ayrshires Are Making Good Record

Testing under the Ayrshire Herd Test rules, the one hundred thirty-seven Ayrshires owned by Penshurst Farm, Narberth, during February, made good record with 748 pounds of 4.12 per milk, 80.83 pounds of butterfat, reports Advanced Registry Superintendent, W. A. Kyle, of the National Ayrshire Breeders' Association at Brandon, Vermont.

Individual honors in the herd for production was won by Penshurst Winnie, a five-year-old, which cow produced 1671 pounds of milk, 73.02 pounds of butterfat.

Crocus time

And what welcome harbingers they are.

Time to dig over beds for annuals and to turn over the soil in that cutting garden—if it doesn't rain just too much.

Not strange, but worthy of observation, that nature has a way of striving for an average—and usually succeeds in attaining it. An unusually mild winter and an unusually cold spring just to equalize things. This seems to be the program at present. Perhaps in a few weeks we will be just on time in the garden. Nature finds the balance and adjusts herself to the average much better than we who think that we know something of keeping things equalized.

Have you a tree in your garden? Several! Fine! And is there a table and chairs, or a bench under a tree. Some flat flag stones will make a terrace and some garden furniture will suggest the enjoyment of cool shade beneath the tree, or trees. The man who sells garden furniture thinks that this is a fine idea. Also the flagstone man. They say it costs much less than a trip to Europe—and besides it keeps the dollars circulating in this country.

In cleaning up the garden, or in watching the gardeners clean up, note the number of egg-masses of the praying mantis. These winter homes have a waxey appearance, about the size of a small walnut, and are usually found in the crotches of shrub branches. The praying mantis is not an injurious insect, in fact, it is one of the gardener's friends. The adults are long-legged creatures, sometimes greenish and sometimes light tan in color, the front legs are short, so that they seem to be in a praying position. Our friends devour many hundreds of smaller injurious insects and may be classed with lady bug, who feeds on aphids and scale insects, and the "thousand-legger" who feeds on vermin. If you want to study the praying mantis bring one of the egg-masses into a warm room. In a few weeks you will have a couple of hundred little "prayers."

This is the better season for transplanting trees and shrubs that set their buds in the fall. Also for moving tender-rooted trees such as birches, Dogwood, and sorrell tree, rhododendron and laurel, azaleas and the fruiting deciduous shrubs that the birds like may all be moved in early spring. Magnolias are also better moved at this time. White oak and other oak trees may also be moved if they are nursery-grown and the holes are deeply dug and well prepared.

April showers bring May flowers.

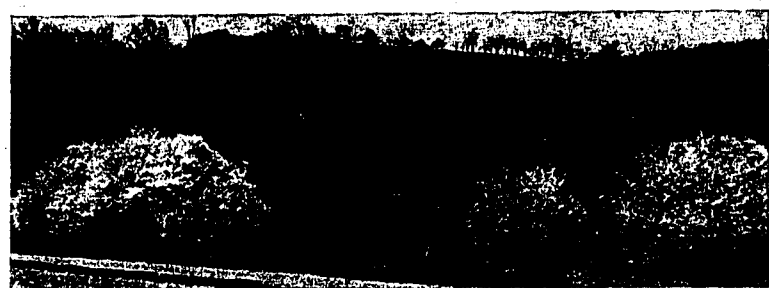

Eighth Elizabethan May Day at Bryn Mawr May 6 and 7

Traditional revels, country dances, mummers' plays and the maypole procession associated with the ancient English custom of "bringing in the May" will mark the eighth Elizabethan May Day to be given at Bryn Mawr College on Friday and Saturday, May 6 and 7. Given once in four years by a cast numbering the entire student body and many of the faculty and alumnae, the Bryn Mawr production has long been recognized as the most authentic presentation of a sixteenth century May Day staged in modern times.

The high point in the performance will be the crowning of Miss Cornelia Drake, a junior, as May Queen. Chosen for her beauty, long golden hair and blue eyes, Miss Drake will portray Maid Marion in the Robin Hood play that is the central theme of the whole May Day fete. As fair Marion, beloved of Robin Hood, she is crowned with a chaplet of spring blossoms by the outlaw Earl of Huntingdon, while Queen Elizabeth, her Court and the May Day players applaud.

Miss Drake is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gaston Drake, of Miami, Florida. She is of medium height and slight build and wears the traditional Maid Marion costume with the natural grace, simplicity and charm called for by her part of an English country lass crowned Queen for a day. Miss Drake attended the Shipley School at Bryn Mawr before entering college. She was chosen by vote of the undergraduate body as the most beautiful girl in college suited to the role of May Queen.

Robin Hood will be played by Miss Margaret Righter, a sophomore, daughter of Mrs. Thomas Righter, of Princeton, N. J. She is tall, slender and erect, has brown hair and eyes, and has been active in college dramatics.

"Beni Higan," Japanese cherries from the Garden Nurseries that bloom early in spring. In this view of an arboretum all other trees are still bare and in winter form.

Wohlert Makes Tree Planting More Easy

Japanese Flowering Cherries Made Available to All at Low Cost

Encouragement to every household in this section to plant the most appropriate trees in commemoration of the Washington Bi-Centennial, is given by Anton E. Wohlert, of the Garden Nurseries. A special cash and carry price, effective on Saturdays, is offered to those who visit the nurseries, on Montgomery avenue near Narberth avenue, Narberth, and to community bodies that buy large numbers of trees.

The most appropriate trees, Mr. Wohlert is able to point out, are Japanese flower cherries, which have already made the Main Line the most distinctive suburban area in America. It is his purpose to intensify the district's charm by encouraging, with low prices, every resident to buy and plant more trees.

This is in line with recommendations made by Lower Merion's and Narberth's Shade Tree bodies, and by the Washington Bi-Centennial committees.

Noel, Narberth Fire Chief Seen as Real "Fire Bug"

Chief Davis, who incidentally is a cousin of Howard Davis, longtime Borough businessman, one can oblige to see me in the interests of a friend of theirs who they feel is deserving of promotion. They know him in one way, but I know him best by observing what he can do and it is this practical factor by which I must be guided."

As Chief Engineer of the Philadelphia Bureau of Fire, Chief Davis is in supreme control of the fire fighting activities of the city. As a rule, he leaves the actual direction of fire-fighting to his various engine company chiefs, although he is usually on hand, if it is a blaze of any size, to keep an eye on operations and give advice if necessary.

He spoke in high praise of the qualities of Lower Merion's Fire Marshall, Anthony McGrann, who until being put on the retired list by the city, was in charge of the Philadelphia Fire School.

Mr. McGrann has known Charlie Noel for twenty years and has only good things to say about him. "Charlie is a real fanatic," he said the other day in his office in the Township Building at Ardmore. "He often used to drop in at the Philadel-

To Mr. Noel's interest, observation and progressive ideas, Mr. McGrann attributes the development of the Narberth Fire Company.

L. M. High School Notes

By BILL MACAN

Last Friday there was presented a very interesting assembly program under the direction of Wood MacDonald. After a duet by Glenwood Rose and Ethel Achenbach, the School Band, under Bruce C. Beach, played Tschaikowsky's difficult "March Slav" and "The World Is Waiting For the Sunrise."

The program ended with a talk by Ted Meredith, holder of the world's record for the quarter mile for 16 years, and well known sports writer. His talk introduced the track season, for he made a plea for candidates for the team.

This Friday a play will be presented by one of the advanced public speaking classes, entitled "His First Dress Suit." The persons who will take part in this comedy are: Mrs. Harding, Virginia Abel; Betty Harding, the daughter, Pat Patterson; Teddy Harding, the son, Dick Henry; Johnny Drake, Betty's fiancé, Fred Justine. The play is under the student direction of Ruth Kohlas.

The debating team is trying a new stunt this Friday night. In the library, the Lower Merion affirmative team will debate the negative team of Norristown High School on the question, "Resolved: That the State of Pennsylvania should enact legislation providing for Unemployment Insurance." The debate will take place at 8 P. M., and is open to the public. The Lower Merion team will consist of Pat Patterson, Kay Garson, Betty McGarvey and Tom Cook, rebuttal speaker. H. Lester Haws will be one of the three judges. This is the first time an evening debate has been attempted at Lower Merion.

BUSINESS BRIEFS

Desk-Dusting

Marshall Field, who was undoubtedly the world's greatest merchant, was always extremely reluctant to assign a desk to anyone who had anything to do with retail sales—even including department heads, buyers and merchandise executives. "Give a man a desk," he said, "and he'll want to sit at it." It was his opinion evidently that a man sitting at a desk can't be so actively, intimately and constantly in touch with merchandise, with customers, with complaints and the ceaseless ebb and flow of his business, as the man who was on his feet. The man who is standing up can see more, and the more he sees, the more he will think. The man who stands up might just as well walk about, and walking about discloses many things that never come to the knowledge of a desk-duster. Do you think that Marshall Field could handle your business, right now in 1932, and make a success of it? Well, here's one of the ideas that he probably would apply if he walked into your place tomorrow morning!

"PLANT A TREE FOR GEORGE WASHINGTON"

Many communities will plant Japanese Flowering Cherry Trees, particularly fitting for George Washington Bicentennial Memorial.

The far-sighted Mayor of Tokio, Japan, made a bid for our tourist trade when he caused 2000 Japanese Cherry Trees to be sent the City of Washington during Taft's administration. They draw thousands of visitors to Washington during the four-week-long Cherry Blossom Season—and almost as many to Japan at the same time every year. We have had the pleasure of supplying most of the Flowering Trees that have been required for Park planting in America.

Start in your community by planting Flowering Cherries for George Washington. A discount of 25% will be allowed from the catalog prices on orders for community plantings amounting to $100 or more. Ask for our catalog giving prices and other information.
